Drawing box, then drawing over it with a black box on a black background leaves a "ghost" "of the previous box, instead of erasing it entirely.

Description
Example: Help_23 from AMOSPro_Examples. I suspect this is related to the problem on Help_3 where the shapes are not erased because the lines they're drawn with are too thick - except for the first circle drawn, which is the only one correct on Help_3. On this example, it may also be due to anti-aliasing.
