Description

Example:

Try the Tracker demo provided with version 0.9.5, and substitute black_queen.mod for the one provided.
It will play, however, the audio is very distorted. If the same track is loaded in the online version of Bassoon Tracker, it plays clean.

There is the same problem with the WAV sounds played with Sam Play. I think that this comes from the transformation by the transpiler of the binary files into base64 (JS file). There is either a loss of information or complete corruption.

When you play the same files normally (without transformation), everything is normal.

This seems to be working fine in the current version (Beta RC3).
